Hey, Look At Us! Getting Together

Hey, Look at us; The students of W.H.S. showed the entire South Bend Community that we're no longer that "disorderly west end" school. It had been five years since the racial disturbance at W.H.S., and that was something to be proud of. We learned to live together by working together.

The students of W.H.S. really got into school this year as shown by the increased involvement in clubs and school activities. This was especially important because of the decreased school enrollment.

The students were also involved in community activities and services, such as volunteering their own time at nursing homes and donating blood at the Saint Joseph County Blood Bank.

The cooperative spirit and the energetic competition in both academics and sports was growing—so Look at us!

HEY, LOOK AT US...

LIVIN'

LIFE UP!

Students, after experiencing a full load of classes each day, seemed relieved to hear the beautiful chime of the 3:00 bell. After these first minutes of relaxation, came the hectic hours of involvement in extracurricular activities. Among these activities were: participating in sports, jammin' to concerts, partying, and serious studying. Employment was also a major adjustment in the lives of many students, as it was a new experience.

Therefore, the W.H.S. student continually faced challenges and overcame conflicts, in and out of school.

A Day On The Irish Campus

In the fall of '76 several W.H.S. students set out to see the sights at Notre Dame University. As they approached the entrance to the college, the splendor of the Golden Dome was spectacular. They also saw Sacred Heart Church, a magnificent beauty of gothic architectural design.

The day turned exciting when someone decided to take a dip in a fountain. The fountain, located between two dormitories, was small, and full of extremely cold water. Everyone rolled up his pants and jumped in. Many onlookers stared, wondering just what was going on. As the day rolled on, the students took a long walk down by the lake to dry off and terrorize the ducks.

Throughout the day the students seemed to say "Hey, Look at US!" and everyone certainly did that.

Panthers Find Enjoyable Activities

Football games, parties and dances were just a few of the ways W.H.S. students spent their Friday and Saturday nights.

Panther fans always screamed and shouted, showing the true Panther Spirit at any athletic event. The strong and spirited voices of the seniors, supporting the Green Machine, were the first to be heard at any game. They were followed by the peppy juniors and lively sophomores and freshmen.

Concerts at the A.C.C. and the Morris Civic Auditorium drew many W.H.S. students. Everyone enjoyed jamming to the songs by popular rock groups.

However, they spent their time, Panthers always showed the true W.H.S. spirit.

Making Those Bucks . . .

Many W.H.S. students found employment at Scottsdale Mall, the largest and most popular shopping center in the South Bend area.

Other students acquired jobs close to home in the Belleville Community. No matter how big or small, jobs were a very important responsibility, especially when school grades were equally important.

When it came to spending those well-earned dollars, students bought everything from stylin' clothes to concert tickets, to other necessities.

Another dollar, either extravagantly spent or diligently saved, was extremely valuable to any W.H.S. student.

Free time for W.H.S. students was not much of a problem. Students spent their time in a wide variety of school clubs and organizations. Practice for athletic events occupied many hours for numerous sports-minded students. Upperclassmen turned free time into working hours when they acquired jobs after school.

No matter how they spent their free time, W.H.S. students showed pride in themselves, their school, and their community.

Outstanding Panthers

In the fall of '76 a question was asked of Mr. Million, a few faculty members, counselors and students. The question was, "In your opinion, who has been the most outstanding student at W.H.S. this year?" Many suggestions were made as there are many commendable Panthers at W.H.S.

Students were chosen for superior achievement in academics, athletics, or community service. Involvement in extracurricular activities, school clubs or functions, and community activities was a primary criterion for recommendation. These students and other ambitious Panthers fulfill their honor. They exhibit the traditional spirit of W.H.S. "Ever Onward."

Student Spirit Soars

The Senior class proved to be an enthusiastic group. Aiding in the smoking and alcohol prevention programs and the blood drive they displayed true Panther spirit.

Seniors also enjoyed many social activities throughout the year such as pizza parties, concerts, dances and sport events.

Although they were the smallest class graduating, the Seniors were respected and admired.

Surprisingly, this small group exhibited the most school spirit at the pep assemblies, leading their football team to another NIC victory.

BUSY

Classes and homework did not take up all the student's time. A variety of activities, from assemblies to arranging class parties, kept him busy throughout the day.

The success of each event was determined by the individual's participation. Clubs and organizations like the Student Council and National Honor Society became involved in community projects through entertaining in nursing homes and holding "Blood" and "Food Drives."

The leadership provided by the faculty and students helped W.H.S. through a busy year.

Assemblies Unite Panthers

Top right: Seniors have the privilege of standing during the assemblies, while the cheerleaders start cheers for the student body.

Pep assemblies broke the monotony of Friday's class routine. A new procedure required everyone to sit with his homeroom in a certain place.

The pep band, with its loud music, greeted the student body. The band also assisted the cheerleaders and Panther mascot with chants and cheers.

Football coach, "Beans" VanCamp, and the designated team captains fired the students up with their enthusiastic talks about that night's game. Seniors performed skits satirizing the opponents.

The Pantherettes performed routines to popular songs like; "Boogie Fever," "Movin'," and "Play that Funky Music."

The school song, followed by each class' battle cry, ended all the assemblies.

Three first place ribbons, one second place ribbon, and a third place trophy for originality were the rewards for the Pantherettes who attended a workshop at Valporaiso University August 1st to the 5th.

In the fall this lively group performed some of their original routines for the student body at pep assemblies and during halftime at basketball games. Many hours spent in practice paid off when the girls received loud applause after each performance.

Newcomers to the group included six girls and the sponsor, Mrs. E. Linetty.

Money earned from selling candy and from garage and bake sales enabled the group to buy new uniforms.

The 1976 Football Homecoming took place on October 1.

During the day Juniors distributed mums and boutonnieres. They made the crowns and decorated the gym for the Homecoming court.

Ten Senior girls were escorted up the aisle to the popular song, "If You Leave Me Now," by the group "Chicago." Afterwards they enjoyed breakfast at Perkin's Pancake House.

Mr. Million, with the help of Kito Wilson and Michael Bacsa, crowned Brenda Bradley queen during halftime of the game against Riley, which the Panthers ultimately won 7-0.

The first dance of the year, sponsored by the Senior class, featured records in the cafeteria after the game.

Charmaine Wilson pins her escort's, Dedrick Bridges, boutonniere on before they line up to be announced.

Office Work Is Fun

Cooperative Office Education, C.O.E., was a vocational program operating through the cooperation of the South Bend Community School Corporation and the local business community. It provided students with on-the-job training in business and professional offices. Seniors received experience for employment and advancement in their particular office careers. They earned money while they worked as clerk typists, file clerks, receptionists, and stenographers. The special C.O.E. class helped to improve their skills needed in their various positions.

The Coordinator was Rosemary Coomes. Officers were Ann Morris—President; Nina Brown—Vice-president; Debbie Lewinski—Secretary; and Karen Bonek—Treasurer. These hard-working officers organized fund-raising activities, including candy and bake sales.

What Interests You?

Bob Swintz, Industrial Cooperative Training (I.C.T.) Coordinator assisted students by finding jobs in the field of their interest. Students were hired on the basis of their skills and ability. The I.C.T. program opened full-time employment opportunities for some students.

I.C.T. members also belonged to Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (V.I.C.A.). They sold pocket and cloth calendars as well as W.H.S. Panther key chains to fund their annual employer-employee banquet held in April for which W.H.S. was host school.

Classroom activities consisted of studying banking, taxes, and employee working conditions. Besides a class room evaluation, employers graded their students on the quality of their work and their individual responsibilities.

"Everybody Sing Along"

The multi-talented W.H.S. vocal department kept quite busy with many activities. They went Christmas caroling at several hospitals and nursing homes around the city. Earlier, they performed concerts at the Masonic Temple and Z. B. Falcons.

At their "Happy Days" concert on November 4, the choir took a nostalgic look at the 50's and 60's. The program also included music from our own day and age. "An Old Fashioned Christmas" was presented on December 15 and included many favorite Christmas songs.

Candice Butler directed the choirs and selected the many creative themes for concerts.

"Strike Up The Band!"

The W.H.S. band raised the students' spirits and enthusiasm at many school activities. Under the direction of Jerry Lackey and assistant director Larry Zorns, the members practiced every day to perfect each new selection that was played.

The marching band played at all home football games during pre-game and half time shows. Together with the swing choir, the concert band held a Christmas concert on December 16 in our school auditorium.

This year the band officers were: President, Terry Stopczynski; Vice president, Devon Swihart, and Treasurer Kevin Fye. Through selling jewelry they helped finance a trip for the band and orchestra.

There's Spirit In Their Music

The Pep and Jazz bands were also quite active this year, performing at many school functions.

The Pep band performed at pep assemblies and at many of our basketball games. They accompanied the cheerleaders on certain cheers and greeted our players with the school song. Most of all, though, they helped bring out the "Big Green" spirit.

The Jazz band, a smaller group than the concert band, specialized in playing Pop and Jazz music. They practiced twice a week under the supervision of Jerry Lackey.

On January 29 they participated in an all-city band program entitled "Jazz Soundations."

Top: The 1976-77 Jazz Band perform at many programs for W.H.S. students.

Strings And Things

The W.H.S. orchestra consisted of eleven members of the string section who were sometimes joined by members of the band. They played different kinds of music from popular to classic. The members of the string section practiced everyday in their first hour class.

On November 9th the orchestra took part in the third annual South Bend "String Along." They joined with other area high school and junior high orchestras to perform combined and separate music selections. The "String Along" was directed by all of the orchestra teachers of the participating schools.

The solo and ensemble contest was held on February 5. In this contest the members performed alone or with a group of judges who then gave them awards according to their performance.

Emily Germano, second-year teacher at W.H.S., directed the orchestra.

Everyone Helps At Supper

Any student who studied French, German, Latin, or Spanish was eligible to join the Language Club. Members engaged in activities such as the annual picnic at Bendix Woods and the Chili Supper. Their annual trip to Chicago was a day of shopping, eating, and seeing a current play. They earned over $100.00 at their car wash, which enabled them to donate money to students who planned to go abroad on the Indiana University summer program.

Richard Guin sponsored the group. Officers were: Monica Stankus—President; Sue Dobrucki—Vice-president; Cheryl Goralski—Secretary; and Jackie Ragland—Treasurer.

Miki Grontkowski, Lisa Schroer, Karen Kowalski, and Margaret Wlochowksi served on the advisory board.

Students Working Together . . .

The Human Relations Board combined with the Student Council to form one group. Members divided into assembly, contest, and selling committees with an Executive Board.

At the workshop on October 19 in the Glenn Bauer shelter at Bendix Woods the group planned a schedule for the entire year. For the second year they entered into the Blood Drive and recruited sixty donors. From November 15-22 they held a Food Drive at Hansel Center for needy Senior citizens of South Bend. Food baskets were also contributed to needy families at Christmas and Thanksgiving.

Hazel Greenwood coordinated the activities of the group. Officers were: Nina Brown—President; Jackie Ragland—Vice-president; and Wanda Giden—Secretary.

Students Promote Spirit

Students who cared to lift the spirit at W.H.S. joined the Booster Club. Making posters, banners, and pictures for the hoops kept the members busy at their weekly meetings. Supplies needed to keep the club going were bought with the money raised from washing cars and selling patches.

Donald Watson sponsored the club, and the officers were: President—Bridget Szynski; Vice-president—Ann Bednarek; Secretary-Treasurer—Val Tomlinson; and Poster Chairmen—Karen Kubisiak and Shenette Turner.

Members Serve Community

Seniors who ranked in the top ten percent of the class formed the National Honor Society. Once inducted, members served the community when they sponsored a Parent's Financial Information Night and presented "Comedy of Errors" at the Northern Indiana Children's Hospital.

They earned money from selling baked goods and Christmas ornaments and washing cars. This money went to pay for their spring banquet honoring the Junior inductees and the new Senior members. They also operated the concession stands at several basketball games.

Officers were: Karen Kowalski—President; Brenda Bradley—Vice-president; Margaret Konkol—Secretary; and Carl Kazmierzak—Treasurer. Pat Sell sponsored the group.

Tell Me That You

On the evenings of December tenth and eleventh the W.H.S. Drama Club presented their fall show, "Tell Me That You Love Me Junie Moon." The play was a poignant exploration into the lives of three social misfits who had set up housekeeping together. Each had a handicap, but had retained the strength he needed to maintain a fulfilling life.

The show took us from the time the characters met in a hospital through their days together to the eventual death of one. Quite a change from the usual comedic fare of our annual fall shows, "Junie Moon" was well-received by the audience.

Students Gain Job Experience

Distributive Education Clubs of America gave students job experience in distribution, marketing, sales, and retailing. For the first time underclassmen were eligible to join.

During their special class hour students discussed the variety of business opportunities, job training, and their own future business plans. They studied income tax and planned to assist W.H.S. students in filling out their internal revenue forms.

Money-raising activities included selling candy and Panther buttons that promoted school spirit. Members also rewrote their chapter constitution this year. In April D.E.C.A. competitive events took place at the Scottsdale Mall.

Lyle Harding was the Sponsor and officers were: Janice Andrzejewski—President; Don Perry—Vice-president; Diane Paskiet—Secretary; Jill Conlee—Treasurer; Tom Martin—Publicity; and Gloria Eddins—Historian.

Staffers Capture Memories

The "Memory Lane" staff had a very special task of creating a history book about the year at W.H.S. Five staffers: Mary Fahey, Barb Konkol, Dan Larsen, Lea Anne Robinson, and Mike Suppinger, prepared for this job by attending the Indiana High School Journalism Institute on the I.U. campus in Bloomington from July 4-16. At the Institute the basic structure of the book was decided, including cover design, color, and theme. The individual editors designed their pages according to these guidelines. With the guidance of Mary Hintz, sponsor, members put together 176 pages of lasting memories.

Members Keep Busy

The "Hatchet," the W.H.S. newspaper, was a weekly free publication concerned solely with communication. Students interviewed and wrote how others felt and thought about particular things, from the Junior-Senior proms being held together to the present attendance system. A special column, "Voice of the Panther," allowed anyone to write in and complain, thank, or praise. Staff members worked very hard to make "deadlines." The Central Career Center printed the paper, and members distributed copies throughout the school.

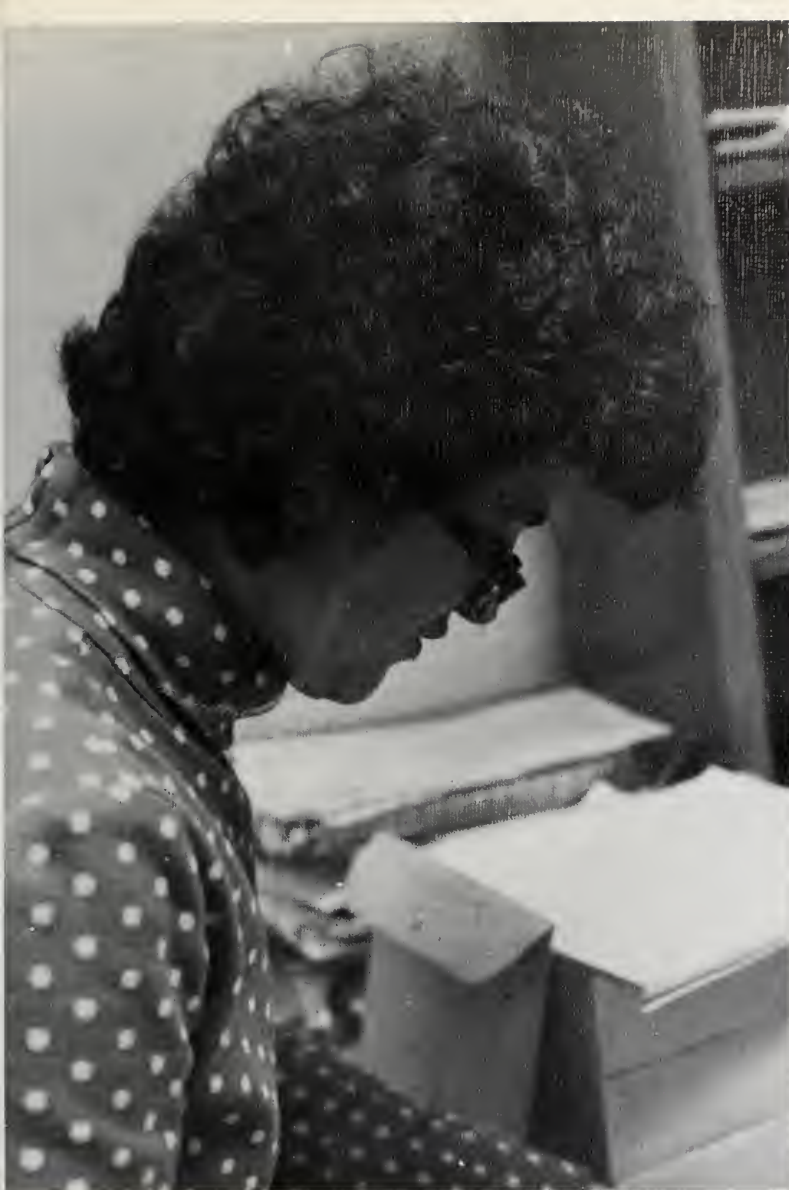

Marilyn Fodor directed the "Hatchet." The Editor-in-Chief was Carl Kazmierzak, assisted by Linda Olis. Other editors were: Kathy Laskowski, Pam Wright, and Pam Krauser.

With February

Washington's Basketball Homecoming was held on February eleventh, the day of the Michigan City Elston game.

In the morning at a special assembly, the ten girls were escorted to the theme song "Free". During the day the class of '77 distributed mums and boutonnieres. The Seniors were also responsible for the crowns and scepter for the court and queen. The girls and their escorts, following tradition, went out for breakfast after the assembly.

At the half-time of the game, Mr. Million, the principal, crowned Jasmin Tamesis, our foreign exchange student, queen.

A victory dance was held in the gym after the game. It was sponsored by the Freshman class, featuring "Friends."

“Hot Doggers” Love Snow

Above: The 1976-77 Ski Club enjoyed many outings and practices at Bendix Woods.

Experienced skiers, as well as non-skiers, were welcomed to join the Ski Club sponsored by Rick Tomaszewski. It was designed to get the students involved in the sport by familiarizing members with movements, techniques, clothing, and equipment. Officers assisted the instructor in teaching beginners. They skied at Bendix Woods or Royal Valley, where equipment could be rented. The only competition was held between the members of the W.H.S. “Hot Doggers.”

Officers were: Ron Kruszewski—President; Karen Kalicki—Vice-president; and Secretary—Shelly Breda.

They Love The Outdoors

The Rifle Club, under the sponsorship of Rick Tomaszewski, competed with other area high schools in duel meets at Newman Center. The group's lack of Senior leadership resulted in an inexperienced group. The club was made up primarily of underclassmen with Doug Geehring and Jeff Rockhill being the only Seniors. Points stressed were safety and gun handling. Judy Honabach acted as scorekeeper.

The Junior Waltons, affiliated with the Isaac Walton League, were sponsored by Jerry Klaybor and Gene Dziubinski. Monthly meetings were held at the Isaac Walton Lodge. Members sold "ducks" made from painted stones and driftwood to raise money for the group's activities. In the spring they distributed nearly 1,700 trees at their annual "tree give-away."

Officers were: Judy Kolczynski—President; Monica Stankus—Secretary; and Margaret Konkol—Treasurer.

Special People Visit

Richard Lugar, the Junior Senator from Indiana, came to W.H.S. on February 15, 1977. He held a press conference in the library for the local T.V. newscasters. He talked about the unseasonably cold weather and the energy crisis. Later in the day a special assembly was held for the social studies department and other interested classes. During it he talked about unemployment because of its primary interest to our students. After the speech he invited the audience to ask questions. Students who took advantage of the opportunity asked about the B-1 Bomber, the future of the Republican party, and the pay raises for politicians.

Prior to Lugar's visit was one by ex-Dodger pitcher, Don Newcombe, on February 10. As a National Board Member of the National Alcohol Commission he related the hazards of alcohol abuse. He told the captive Panther audience how he nearly ruined his life. Don warned the student body against getting "overly involved in the drug habit." He further stated how he wished someone had talked to him in his youth; he hoped that at least one of the listeners would take his advice.

HEY, LOOK AT US...

GREEN

& MEAN!

The Ancient Greek culture held the athlete in highest regard. The men who won in the Olympics were well known and thought of as heroes.

This part of Greek culture carried over into our modern American culture. Americans spent millions of dollars last year watching high school, college and professional athletic events. Often all three major T.V. networks covered sports events at the same time.

People respected athletes not only for their physical ability, but also for their strong character and mental agility. In many sports strategy was the most important part.

Now the time had come when girls were not keeping in the limits of tennis, swimming and volleyball, but had entered such masculine sports as basketball. Boys had invaded sports normally thought for girls only. The day might soon be here when sports would be "unisex".

Although high school athletics had changed throughout history, the basic pride remained.

Panthers Conquer Crown

South Bend Washington has had a long tradition of winning football. This season's team did their best to keep this tradition by winning the NIC Crown.

On Friday, the 10th of September, Panthers met their most aggressive rival, the Elkhart Central Blazers. In a terrific defensive struggle before 3,000 fans, the Blazers came out on top, 10-6, in the NIC opener for both.

On a near-freezing night at Jackson Field the Washington Panthers, with clubs and claws flying, met the Mishawaka Cavemen. At halftime the Cavemen held the lead, 14-13. It wasn't until the fourth quarter that Washington's offensive team finally pulled together to score 16 points. With the score tied, 21-21; and with 6:13 left in the game, the offensive line started a drive for 82 yards. Brian Kirkendoll raced 11 yards for the winning touchdown, followed by an extra point pass to Tony Doaks. Final score, 29-21; another Panther victory.

It was the first encounter for Washington cracking pads with the Penn Kingsmen. Penn took the opportunity to ruin the Panther's bid for a playoff game with a victory of 13-9. Next autumn Penn becomes a full-pledged NIC football member, along with LaSalle and Clay, and will then be eligible to seek the title shared by Washington and Mishawaka this year, the NIC Conference Championship.

Good defense played a key role in winning ball games, and the Panthers had one of the best defensive units in the city. Six players received the honor of being on the All-Northern Indiana Conference football team. Defensive players were: Jesse Barnes, Bruce Black, Ron Fellows, Ken Luczkowski, and David Redding. Offensive players were: Brian Smith and Ron Fellows. Ron Fellows was voted the most valuable player in the NIC.

This season's 1976 Football team was under the stern leadership of Coach "Beans" VanCamp. He brought the season's record to a respectable 8-2 record.

Defense had traditionally been associated with Washington, and coach George McCullough did his best in his first year coaching the varsity defensive line.

Offensive line Coach Mike Sipotz, utilizing wishbone blocking, guided the offensive line to produce to the best of their ability. He kept the offense going with his famous quote, "Fourth Quarter Gents, fourth quarter," and Washington did play football all the way to the fourth quarter.

Washington Keeps Tradition

Coach Pat Gullifor taught the offensive and defensive backs his knowledge of the game. The backs played a major part in guiding the West Side Panthers to victory.

Some of the players this year did a heck of a job, displaying much improvement over the past 3 seasons. Jim Quickstad was one of these dedicated players.

With ten Seniors leaving and their positions vacant, things may be tough next season.

But the combined dedication of the Washington Coaching Staff, together with the natural ability and desire of the players, will prove that nothing can stop the Panther football team in '77.

Frosh Repeat As City Champs

This year's Freshman football squad posted a near-perfect 7-1 record. Under the leadership of Rick Tomaszewski and Eugene Dziubinski, the frosh Green Machine brought another Freshman City Championship trophy to the West Side.

The Freshman squad went through 45 consecutive, scoreless quarters. They were undefeated, untied, and unscored upon in City Conference play.

This year's team marked the third consecutive City Championship trophy for the Freshman football team. But Schmucker ended a 20-game, undefeated streak that had taken 3 years to build.

Offensive team leader, Dave Kowalski, quarterback, helped the offense average 24½ points per game. Frosh defense shut-out 7 consecutive opponents under the team leadership of Rick Way.

The Freshman goal this year was to be undefeated, untied, and unscored upon. This goal was close to being fulfilled. Only Schmucker stood in the way!

This was the first year of coaching football for Mr. Dziubinski. We hope he will stay to help future frosh teams, along with head coach Rick Tomaszewski.

Silent Ones Sputter In Cross Country

Cross Country's "Silent Ones" faced another season with little or no school support. Without the killer instinct, the Cross Country team turned in a 3-6 record. Though a dim season, there were some highlights, one of which was Perry Reichander, a Freshman, who proved to be the number one runner of Coach Stall-worth's "Silent Ones." Even with the absence of school enthusiasm, dedication in the team was never lost. During its season, Cross Country featured such outstanding runners as Senior Captain Don Wilson; last year's M.V.P., Darwin Hilliard; Seniors Karl Perusich, Kevin Henderson, Mike Bradford, and Freshman,

Bill Thrasher. Although this season was a disappointment, next year's Cross Country team will consist of returning runner Reichander, Hilliard, Lee Van, White, Thrasher, Patton, Tell, and Armstrong. With these runners, newcoming stars and school support, W.H.S. could have a winner.

Youth Hurts Spikers

This year's varsity squad was plagued with many handicaps before the season began, not the least of which was inexperience. With only three returning varsity players, two being Seniors Annette Cates and Carol Burzynski, the problem was evident.

After a 4-8 season, the team went into the sectionals prepared to beat Marion in the first round. A very spirited match ensued, but the effort was in vain, as Marion won the close contest 15-13 in overtime.

The B-team had a very impressive season, ending with a 10-5 record, which included some excellent matches.

Perhaps the best matches of all were those of the sectionals at Riley. In the first round, the Panther squad knocked off Riley in two games, 15-12, and 15-11. The team then split the first two games against Mishawaka in the second round. In the third game, after falling behind 12-1, the team came back, only to lose a heart-breaker, 15-11.

Still, the team had much to be proud of, and much to look back on this season.

Rough Season For Tennis

The varsity team again had a disappointing season, as shown by the 2-12 regular season record.

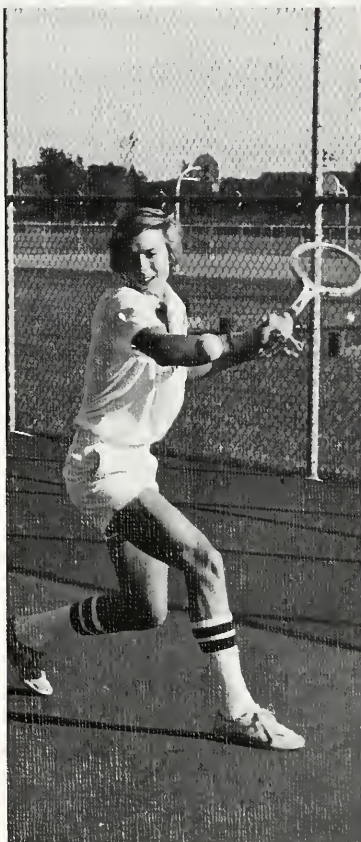

The team never lacked spirit, however, and went into every match with a feeling of confidence. Most of the players felt that they did better in some of their losing efforts than in the two regular season victories over North Liberty.

In sectional play the team advanced into the second round after crushing North Liberty 5-0. The season ended there, however, as they lost the next match to the Riley squad, which later went on to win the sectionals.

Again this year, the B-team had to contend with lack of experience and a tough schedule.

The season was one of surprises, the team lost some matches they were expected to win, and won some that they were expecting to lose. Season highlights were a tie with Culber Military and an upset victory over Adams.

The B-team accomplished its goal, however, and that was to train future varsity players.

Swimmers . . .

August 16 kicked off the first day of practice for the W.H.S. girls' swim team. Long, tiring practices were scheduled daily. Not only did the girls swim, but they also ran and lifted weights. With their 2-10 season, the girls got a taste of both the thrill of victory and the agony of defeat. Coach Kristi Clary raised the girls' enthusiasm during the meets. With the managers' help, everyone worked to the best of her ability. However, there always seemed to be room for improvement.

The Panther girls had tough opponents this year with Adams and Riley heading the list. For the first time the girls' meets used the guys' standards in which all the lengths were doubled. Another new feature was the addition of the Northern Indiana Conference Meet.

Washington was represented in the state meet by Annie Ross, one of the team's divers.

Sink Or Swim?

Although the boys' swim team did not have an outstanding season, their enthusiasm and spirit were undaunted. They were a young, inexperienced team; W.H.S. did not have a boys' swim team last year. Although inexperienced, Coach Sexton had faith they would develop into a winning squad.

Practices were a grueling 500 yards, which strengthened legs, arms and shoulders; so that by the end of the season the Panthers became tough opponents. The boys worked hard to build themselves up and better the swim team.

Sophomores Eric Budny and Jeff Salata

led the team in points. Eric swam the 200 yard Individual Medley and Jeff swam breaststroke. Dave Ruszkowski, backstroker and Mike Stachowski, a freestyler added a great deal to the team's overall efforts. Brandon Trok, the only Senior on the team, showed his skill in diving and 50 freestyle. Dave Sult and Mike Putz were the only swimmers with any previous experience. Other upperclassmen were: Ray Richmond, Steve Lutomski, Tom Szalewski and Mike Jozwiak. The Freshmen were led by David Salata, the butterflyer, Robin Dougall, and John Mejers looked promising.

Girls

The 1976-77 winter sports program at Washington included a new sport for the girls. A girls' basketball team was formed, and all girls were invited to try out. The actual team consisted of ten girls, two short of regulation team size. Team members were: Seniors; Anita Owens, and Carol Burzynski; Juniors; Denise Goralski, Debbie Taylor, Patty Kyle, Judy Kloski, Lisa Schroer, and Allison Townsend; Sophomores; Marilyn Mosby and Debbie Ciesielski; Freshmen; Kathie Lutomski, Pat Palicki, and Mary Ellen Lewinski who were also the managers. The coach for the new team was Susan Sipotz. Although the team was small, they showed a lot of spirit and enthusiasm. The girls played ten games, playing five area schools twice. The team was included in the girls' sectional the first week in February. Optimism was the name of the game, and the girls fought hard for the Green and White.

Cheerleaders Arouse Spirit!

During the spring of last year the Washington High School Cheerleaders were judged on their spirit, enthusiasm, and over-all cheerleading ability. Seven Varsity and six "B-team" girls were chosen, and they soon began working together, planning for the upcoming sports seasons.

The summer was not just a time-off period for these girls. Working at car washes, bake sales, popcorn sales, and selling light bulbs were just a few of their money-making activities. The money was used for their annual trip to a cheerleading clinic. This year they attended a National Cheerleading Association Camp situated at Ball State University. There they learned new chants, cheers, and mounts. They also learned to appreciate each other, and learned to work together.

For the sixth consecutive year the cheerleaders brought home the "Spirit Stick," which helped them begin school with added enthusiasm. They were able to say with pride, "Hey, Look at Us!," "Cheer with Us!" and "Support your Team!" They generated this energetic spirit to the Freshmen cheerleaders, who were elected in the fall.

Beginning with the 1977 graduating class, the first-year Varsity Cheerleaders were awarded letter sweaters.

Blood, Sweat, and Tears

Back in October coaches Evans and Horowitz anxiously awaited the upcoming wrestling season. Returning were eight experienced varsity members and a number of talented juniors and sophomores, making the largest veteran squad ever. Coach Evans believed this would be one of the most promising seasons he had ever coached.

The first week of practice proved it would take a lot of hard work to make a good varsity and B team. Being one of the most coachable groups of young men, the team progressed rapidly. Up on the mat after school the wrestlers not only learned wrestling techniques, but also discipline and stamina. While students enjoyed brief vacations because of school closings, wrestlers were braving the cold and sweating hard at practice.

Earn Sectional Crown

The success of the team was due largely to the ability of the wrestlers to help each other throughout the season.

The Booster Club support helped the morale of the team and helped them to find satisfaction in their work. Coach Evans and Horowitz's greatest rewards were the improvement and progress in the team as a whole, and the growth and maturing of the individuals.

This year's squad brought the Sectional Trophy to Washington. Next year's team will probably be as tough as the wrestling team of 77 upon that green and white mat, assuring the tradition of winning at Washington.

Process Of Rebuilding

Coach Subby Nowicki's 1977 ball club accomplished quite a bit for the records. This was the first undefeated conference team since 1955. Washington was one of the top teams in the state: they were ranked in the top ten most of the season. This year's team drew almost 4,000 fans to our home court for the W.H.S.-LaSalle game. Never before was our home court filled to the capacity of the gym.

The Panthers had some close calls of being defeated. In the Mishawaka and North Judson games, David Redding made two half-court shots just seconds before the buzzer, winning both games. One of the toughest opponents Washington had to meet was LaSalle.

Yields Talent

In the fourth period of the game, the score was 56-51 in LaSalle's favor. With 1:32 left in the game, our Panthers made a furious rally of ten points. The final score was 61-58 with the Panthers out on top.

This year's basketball team was one of the best groups of young, talented men Washington had ever had. Although small in height, they were one of the quickest teams in the area, and with a lot of poise. Teamwork, heart, and discipline helped this team to utilize their full potential, poise, speed, sportsmanship, and passing. Winning the conference crown, these Panthers proved that they were the winners.

Successful Season For Frosh

The Freshman basketball team had a successful season under George McCullough's first year of coaching. Top scorer Timmy Turner helped the squad, along with John Parhams and Eric Brown, to keep up the Panther tradition of winning.

HARD!

"Do you understand how to do numbers 1-25 of the Chemistry problems?"

"Hey does anybody know how to do this Algebra?"

"Sorry I can't go to the movies tonight; I have to start my research paper. It's due tomorrow."

"I hope we have a movie in Social Studies today so I can sleep; I stayed up last night until 2:00 studying for my Latin and Biology tests."

"Well, I figured since Biology isn't until fifth hour, I could study for my test during my first four classes."

This is just a small sample of what students said when talking about studying for tests and doing homework.

At times, it might have seemed impossible for students at W.H.S. to finish all their homework or study for two big tests on the same night. Usually the impossible became possible with such simple solutions as going to bed a little later or getting up a little earlier.

Sometimes time wasn't the problem. It was not knowing how to do the assignment. This problem didn't stop too many students; a phone call to a friend who knew how to do the assignment usually solved the problem. And if a friend couldn't help, there was always the teacher who was usually willing to give a further explanation the next day.

Although obstacles had to be overcome, at the end of the year students at W.H.S. could say "Hey Look at Us; we studied real hard!"

Making A Better Tomorrow

Trying to find ways of improving W.H.S., Mr. Million, principal, asked students for suggestions. In so doing, he visited with students at lunch, attended club meetings, and mingled with students in the halls.

James Cohen, Asst. principal, organized the assemblies. He also acted as Administrative sponsor for student organizations.

Phillip Peregrine not only concentrated on behavior and attendance problems, but also worked with the Human Relations Board and The Class Officers.

Guidance Through Counseling

The Learning and Reading Labs were two new additions to W.H.S. The labs offered students a chance to learn at their own pace. The Reading Lab helped students improve their reading with the help of volunteer Tutorial Aides.

P.V.E. classes also offered many opportunities in learning.

Counselors helped students choose classes which would suit their future needs. They also kept students informed on when PSAT, SAT, vocational, and aptitude tests were to be given.

The Librarians helped students find information in the library.

Mrs. Greenwood organized a Cheerblock for the assemblies, besides sponsoring the Student Council.

You Ain't Learned Nothin' Yet

English didn't consist of only reading and writing at W.H.S.

Students in Theatre Arts worked on dramatic skills and learned the different parts of the stage.

In Debate class students had to back up their views with supportive evidence.

Students in Speech class gave speeches which included visual aides and time limits.

Grammar went back to the basics, teaching the different parts of speech.

Reading accelerators and controlled readers helped students increase their reading speeds in Developmental Reading.

Many classes, consisting mainly of reading and writing, still remained favorites at W.H.S.

From Past To Present

This year all Senior Social Studies classes held a nine day session called "Street Law." The classes were taught by Notre Dame Law students. The course dealt with the every day legal problems of the "man on the street."

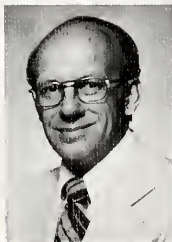

Cadet Government let students learn on the job. After spending time in class, students worked with people in government-associated jobs. Students chose jobs such as firemen or policemen. Students had to keep logs of their experiences.

The different Social Studies classes also included studies of the history of wars, civilizations, and politics.

Mind Over Matter

High School Math reacquainted students with the basics of adding, subtracting and multiplying, while Algebra students learned how to work with variables.

Geometry dealt with the relationships between size and space. Compasses and straight edges aided in circumscribing circles and finding areas.

Most college bound students desired more years of math. Through Trigonometry and Calculus, students increased their mathematical know-how.

Helping students build logical minds and giving them an understanding of abstract mathematical concepts was the main goal of the Math Department.

Taking Care Of Business

A student interested in business had a variety of courses to choose from.

Typing I and II helped students with future plans in business careers and served as a practical thing to know in everyday life.

Data Processing introduced students to the operations of a computer and the meaning of a key punch. With the number of jobs open in this field, Data Processing proved to be a valuable course.

Although only nine-weeks long, Business Law taught students to understand different kinds of contracts.

The business department had something to offer all students interested in business.

Looking Through A Looking Glass

Discussions on DNA and RNA took place in Advanced Biology.

Chemistry classes learned through the use of books and labs. Students worked together in finding atmospheric pressure and observing a burning candle to learn the different lab techniques.

Nine-week courses in Gardening and Animal Kingdom provided students with a change of pace.

Courses in the different sciences helped students understand the "how" and "why's" of their surroundings.

Speaking In Foreign Tongues

If anyone heard students singing Captain and Tennille songs in school, they probably heard the voices of Spanish students.

Students in Language classes sang a wide variety of songs. Students also put on skits.

Stories read by students sometimes told about customs of other countries or sometimes were just silly folktales.

The Language Lab offered a chance for students to practice pattern drills while listening to native speakers.

Language students had a chance to learn about other countries in many interesting ways.

Achieving Total Fitness

The Physical Education program at W.H.S. was as varied as the students who participated in it.

Gymnastics attracted a number of students. The balance beam, parallel bars and trampoline were just a few of the apparatuses available to the students.

A large gymnasium and seven-lane pool helped students enjoy themselves, while they developed muscle coordination and sportsman-like attitudes.

Discussions on drug abuse, alcoholism, and the effects of cigarette smoking made Health classes very informative. Students also became familiar with the various systems of the body.

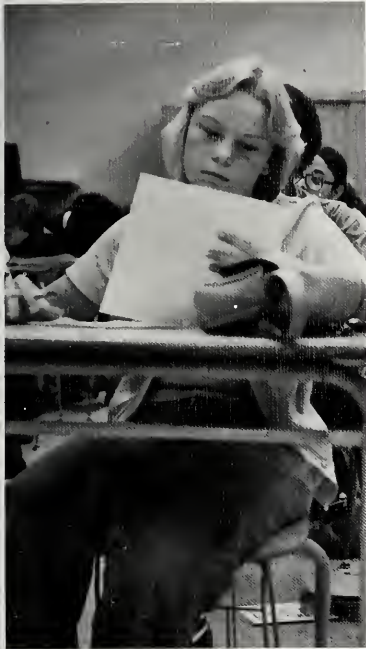

Films, booklets, filmstrips, and charts covered everything from nutrition to sex education.

A Little Bit Of Everything

Learning the essentials of living was taught at W.H.S.

In Singles Living I and II students learned to prepare food, manage a budget, and to plan, buy, and care for clothes.

Students learned the different techniques and stitches used in crochet, crewel, knitting, and needlepoint in the Needlework classes.

Although the Home Economics Department offered a wide variety of classes, cooking and sewing still remained favorites.

New to the Industrial Arts Department was Electronics. The two-year course was offered to juniors and seniors. The class began with the teaching of the basic price of electricity and continued on to the more difficult process of repairing electrical appliances.

Industrial Arts also included: Drafting, Woodworking, Trade Math, and Auto Mechanics.

And The Beat Goes On

Class Piano was added to the Music Department at W.H.S. Students learned the basics of piano playing and studied the styles of famous pianists. Small classes made it possible for students to receive individual attention.

Through the combined efforts of the Choir and Orchestra, many people enjoyed the entertainment they provided in musical productions.

The band's performances at football games and pep assemblies brought pride to W.H.S.

The Art Of Being Creative

The Art Department at W.H.S. offered a vast selection of courses for students to take. Each of these courses focused on the individuality of the student.

Pottery classes gave students the chance to find out how creative they really were. These classes allowed students to mold their feelings into visible things.

The expansion of the darkroom was considered a welcome improvement by many of the Photography students. Besides a larger working area, ten enlargers and a wall full of developing sinks were added.

The Art Club displayed and sold many of the items made by students.

The development of students' artistic abilities made the Art Department a very important part of the curriculum.

Keep It Clean And Healthy

Many non-teaching faculty members helped to keep the school running smoothly.

The Security Guards patrolled the halls to keep students from roaming the halls during class time. The Security Guards also kept students from coming in the school before it was time.

The Laundresses washed the towels for the Swimming and Physical Education classes. Besides washing the towels they also mended swimsuits.

The custodians kept the school clean, and kept up the school grounds. The janitors also set up chairs and bleachers for special occasions.

Students went to the school nurse if they got sick during school. The nurse either sent them home or took care of them in her office.

The Cafeteria workers came up with new ideas offering a greater variety of choices for lunch. They started a new plate lunch which consisted of hamburger, vegetable, and shake.

These many different staff members helped improve W.H.S.

GOOD

For several years citizens of South Bend have labeled the students of Washington High School as troublemakers because of vandalism and racial riots.

But now that label has faded away. A new pride in our school rose and spread among the students and overflowed into the community. Students showed pride by giving blood, working, and participating in extracurricular activities.

"Hey, look at us!", shouted the Seniors. "We wanted the community to have as much pride and respect for W.H.S. as we had for our school. As leaders of this school we left to the Juniors the knowledge of how to spread this pride."

"Hey, look at us!", shouted the Juniors. "We will soon lead the school. We have tried hard to learn from the Seniors how to make this school the best around. We are now ready to teach the underclassmen to spread the Panther Pride."

"Hey, look at us!", screamed the Sophomores. "We've only been here two years, but already ideas about pride have formed. We are ready to spread these ideas throughout the community."

"Hey, look at us!", screamed the Freshmen. "We've only begun. But we want a new image for W.H.S., too. We are starting to feel this pride and spirit the Seniors talk about. We will soon be true Panthers."

Seniors On Their Way

The officers of the "77" Senior class were an experienced team, having held offices during their undergraduate years. With the aid of Larry Zorns, Seniors sponsored many activities, such as the annual Faculty Senior basketball game and the Homecoming dance. They also sold popcorn to raise money for the class gift, which would be left as a lasting memory of the Class of "77".

January 15th marked the date of the Senior class party. For many it would be their last get-together with fellow classmates. The Elks Club was the site of the Junior-Senior prom. "South Shore" provided the music, and the evening proved to be memorable for all. Wearing gowns of green and white, the W.H.S. Seniors entered the gym for the last time on June 5, 1976, Graduation Day.

Friendship is a Memory
 Memories can be such beautiful things,
 Frail, ethereal as butterflies' wings;
 Bits of bright jewels, part of you and me,
 Built of our thoughts so lovely and free,

Each one a blessing deep in the heart,
 Each in experience having its start,
 For friendship's a diamond, like a glimmering star
 That shines through the darkness wherever you are.

It fills the gray corners with life's golden dreams
 And leaves the soul brilliant in lovelier sheens.
 Life can hold nothing more beautiful, fair,
 Than friendship's sweet memories lingering there.

Juniors . . .

What made W.H.S. Juniors special? They had that special Panther pride in them that said, "Hey Look at Us." They put this pride into planning their activities. The big event was the Junior-Senior prom which they arranged. May 6th was the date selected for the exciting evening held at the Elks Club in Mishawaka. Juniors looked back on their past three years at W.H.S. with a feeling of joy that this was all behind them, and they had finally become Seniors. Yet there was a feeling of sadness because their high school career was almost over

Sophomores . . .

The Sophomore class of '79 have completed two exciting years at W.H.S. They have broadened socially as well as mentally. Their enthusiasm and Panther spirit has strongly united them.

With the help of their class sponsor Mr. Linetty, they held many fund raising activities. They sold spirit shirts, sponsored a dance, and had a bake sale in efforts that made their class party a success.

They anxiously awaited becoming upperclassmen and will hopefully carry on the tradition of leadership in school and in the community.

Freshmen . . .

The Freshmen received a traditionally warm welcome here at W.H.S. Any misgivings they had were soon overcome. Their spirit reigned high at pep assemblies, and they were the proud winners of the spirit week contest and the owners of a fantastic freshman football team.

Class sponsor, Mrs. Drapek and President, David Randle will give their continued guidance as they plan to collect many valuable memories throughout their high school years. In 1980, as a new decade dawns upon W.H.S., they will look back upon their four years with a feeling of accomplishment.

Advisory Board Lends A Hand

Each year the students elect class officers. This year they chose people who they thought would be the most productive and responsible. They organized activities such as: class parties, bake sales, car washes, and proms. These class leaders were the people who made everyone say, "Hey, Look at Us."

HEY, LOOK AT US...

DOING

WE NEED ADS ! THEY MAKE THE BOOK POSSIBLE.

THE RUSH IS ON!

BUSINESS!

Advertising was probably the most important part of the 1977 Memory Lane; for if the advertising goal was not met, the book would not be completed as planned. All of the "extras" in a yearbook cost money. Color pictures, "bordered" pages, color flats, black and white graphic special effects all added to the excitement and style of the yearbook.

The only source of income for a yearbook was through advertising sales. The yearbook staffers called on most Westside businesses and asked them to support the Memory Lane by buying Ads. Parents were invited to become "patrons" and many did so.

Time To Be Ourselves

Well Panthers, here it is. The finished product of hard work and determination, hopefully brought forth for your approval. This year there had been many trials and tribulations faced by the "Memory Lane" staff. But with the help of our leader and advisor, Mrs. Mary Hintz, we all learned how to cope with these problems. I would not trade this experience for anything. It has made my Senior year, and hopefully yours, the best ever. The Panthers have again proven to be the pride of the West End. Hey, Look at Us!

Numerous Events During '76

Wow, what a year! The coldest winter in 200 years caused the first natural gas shortage in our country. The shortage caused factories to close, stores to turn their thermostats down, and gave Washington High students seven extra days of vacation.

On the local scene Century Center, in downtown South Bend, was nearing completion, but plans for a proposed downtown shopping mall fell through.

There was not yet total peace in the world as Lebanon, Angola, Egypt, South Africa, and Spain were but a few of the countries that experienced internal problems. Quebec threatened independence from Canada, and Puerto Rico was suggested as the 51st state by President Ford.

Earthquakes struck Guatemala, Italy, Turkey, and China. Meanwhile, droughts plagued Europe and the western portion of the United States. The Midwest and East did not escape cruel weather; these sections were struck by savage blizzards.

Politically the world lost such personalities as Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung, Chicago Mayor Richard Daley, and Senator Phillip Harte of Michigan. The entertainment field suffered the loss of Freddie Prinze, Jack Cassidy, and Rosalind Russell.

Incumbent President Gerald Ford lost to a Georgia peanut farmer, Jimmy Carter. Ford narrowly won the Republican nomination from challenger Ronald Reagan and lost to Carter by a margin of 56 electoral votes.

Legionnaires, at a convention in Philadelphia, were hit with a loss of many members to a malady which became known as the "legionnaires disease."

Billionaire Howard Hughes' will continued to be a mystery, and the Nobel prizes were swept by five Americans. Scientists watched as Viking I landed on Mars and sent back earth's first pictures of that planet. And so another memorable chapter came to a close in the Washington Story. It was one of nostalgia for departing seniors and anticipation for advancing underclassman. We will all remember the 1976-77 school year.

The Merry-Go-Round Of Spring

This year's prom was held on May 6th at the Elks Club in Mishawaka. "Carousel" formed the theme, and the chosen theme song was "You'll Never Walk Alone", derived from the Rodgers and Hammerstein classic. From eight 'til twelve o'clock couples danced to the music of "Special Edition".

The class of 1978 arranged the details and took general charge of the prom. When the 6th finally arrived, an eager group of Juniors and Seniors gathered to decorate the hall in anticipation of the forthcoming event. The decorating centered on a colorful miniature carousel created by the woodshop class.

Mr. Larry Zorns, Senior class sponsor, crowned Carol Nalepinski queen. She was escorted by Jeff Lundquist. Vickie Fleming, escorted by Alvin Randle, was crowned princess by Mr. Terry Tulchinsky.

Girl Sluggers Are City Champs

Rainouts, unfamiliar positions, injuries and disciplinary measures all contributed to the 5-6 record of the girl's softball team. This year's squad was a young team with only two graduating Seniors. During the season remarkable individual performances sparked a total team effort, which enabled the softball team to defeat pretourney favorites Riley and Clay. This year's squad won the City Championship with an 8-6 record. Annette Cates was voted Most Valuable Player and Claire Chwalek had the best batting average. Hard work and hustling at practice helped the 1977 softball team bring the City Championship trophy to W.H.S.

Batter Up!

The 1977 baseball season had some ups and downs for this season. The team found itself inexperienced with no more than four seniors in the lineup at one time. The young Panthers had their hands full, losing games in the late innings, showing the team lacked experience. The entire squad kept their heads up and showed the pride South Bend Washington is known for. After a so-so start the Panthers slumped in mid-season, but headed to the sectionals with a strong finish under their belts. The team was led by Senior co-captains Jeff Buysse and Mark Witucki, whose timely hits drove in many runs. Junior pitching ace Matt Szymczak had many close calls for elusive no hitters. Seniors Terry Gabaree and Dominic Demeter provided leadership for the younger players. With a young team and newly acquired experience the future looked brighter.

Young Teams Show Improvement

With Steve Neuliep as the only returning letterman, this year's team was one of rebuilding. Even with inexperience, the team managed to finish 2nd in the Keppler Tournament. Next year looks brighter. Five of the six varsity members will be returning. Heading the team this year were Freshman Kevin Kowalski and Junior Steve Neuliep. The other members of the squad were Senior Fred Chwalek and Juniors Mike Leevan, Mike Piechocki and Joe Leszczynski.

The 1977 girls' track team was at first an inexperienced squad but developed into a winning team. This was the first year that W.H.S. had an actual girls' track team. With the help of their coach Mrs. Rosemary Rehak, the girls showed true Panther pride on and off the track field. In the sectionals Jackie Parahams, a Freshman, placed second in the 100 yard dash, which qualified her for the regionals. The 440 yard relay team: Jackie Parahams, Marilyn Mosby, Cherone Logan and Kim Logan placed second in the sectionals, which also earned them a chance in the regional.

“Love” Is More Than An Emotion

The 1977 Girls' Tennis Team, coached by Kristi Clary.

The experience gained from last year's tennis team proved to be the necessary ingredient in improving the team's record. Although a few matches were lost by a very close score, the girls forged on to place 3rd in the conference. The enthusiasm the girls showed made it known to everyone that they were true W.H.S. Panthers.

Hey, Look At Us! Again—

"Der Preist Ist Zu Hoch" was the title of the 1977 skit produced by the W.H.S. German students. It dealt with the theme of a man who sells his soul to the devil for riches and fabulous prizes. Also included was a parody on game shows. With the aid of Mrs. Ruth Tulchinsky and Mr. Terry Tulchinsky, the students produced a memorable film.

"Dance for Those Who Can't", the theme of the Dance Marathon held to raise money for Muscular Dystrophy, was held at Washington on April 30th. Students received pledges by the hour, and the proceeds went to Muscular Dystrophy. Prizes were given, and many students danced the full twelve hours. Over $1734 was raised to donate to fight the dreaded disease.

Oklahoma!

This year's annual spring show brought us Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Oklahoma"! It was presented on the nights of March 25th and 26th. The production was a total success and held the audience spellbound.

The story centered around the romance of a young farmgirl, Laurey and her cowboy beau Curley. The plot dealt with the old belief that true love never runs smooth. The hilarious antics of Laurey's friend Ado Annie and her boyfriend Will presented the audience with the lighter side of romance.

The actors and orchestra worked diligently to make the show a success. Many long hours of rehearsal were needed to perfect each scene. The show was directed by Mrs. Butler, vocals; Mr. Good, acting; Mr. Lackey and Miss Germano, orchestra.

Center Left: In a tender scene Curley (Mike Alerding) and Laurey (Sue Matthys) discuss the possibility that people are talking about them in a chorus of "People Will Say We're In Love".

"Times Of Your Life"

Sunday June 5th marked the last day of the class of 1977's high school career. Marveling at how fast these past four years had flown, the Senior class could hardly realize that commencement day had arrived.

Memories flooded by as Mr. Million spoke about their past accomplishments, and added his best wishes for their successful careers. Larry Laskowski, valedictorian, and Ann Marie Haugel, salutatorian, also praised their class' past efforts and gave sound advice for the future.

As commencement proceedings ended, many Seniors gazed at each other for the last time. Surely Washington would never forget the class of '77.
